One model. Endless combinations.
The jumping saddle that adapts to every horse and rider.

Paris is the new jumping saddle from the Smart Line, designed to offer complete customization and meet the specific needs of both horse and rider. Starting from a single model, it is possible to combine a range of options to achieve a truly bespoke configuration. The saddle tree features a flat profile with a rounded front section, and is available in two versions: standard, or with the innovative X-Technology, which has rear membranes beneath the seat bones for enhanced shock absorption. The seat is offered in two depths: MD (medium deep), ideal for those seeking a more centered position, and MF (medium flat), designed for riders who prefer greater freedom of movement. A distinctive feature of the new Paris saddle is the high level of customization available for the panels: five options are offered to suit different back conformations, including LPF flocked (non-integrated or integrated), Classic flocked (non-integrated or integrated), and non-integrated Latex. The knee blocks are also customizable, with various fixed options available or the choice of Velcro blocks for adjustable support tailored to the rider's preferences. The saddle is available in a selection of high-quality leathers, designed to balance aesthetics, comfort, and durability. Options include Lux leather, a premium double-oiled leather that is durable and offers good grip; bovine leather, soft and grippy from the very first use; and hard leather, robust and ideal for intensive, long-lasting use. Further personalization is possible with a variety of color combinations for the pipings and stitchings, allowing for a distinctive and coordinated final look. The new Paris saddle is the natural evolution of the previous double-flap models (X-Paris, Paris Classic, and Paris) integrating their technical features and strengths into a single model, now enhanced with new customization possibilities not previously available. This saddle is a perfect choice for both professional riders and amateurs who wish to improve their position and their horse's comfort, with a fully customized design that places the well-being of the combination at the center of every detail.
