The Cross-country saddle that adapts to every horse and rider.

Paris K is the new mono flap cross-country saddle from the Smart Line, designed to offer a fully customized configuration that precisely meets the needs of both horse and rider. It's a unique model that combines a variety of technical and stylistic options. The saddle tree features a flat profile with a rounded front section, and is available in two versions: standard, or with the innovative X-Technology, which integrates membranes in the rear part beneath the seat bones for enhanced shock absorption. The seat is offered in two depths: MD (medium deep), for a more centered position, and MF (medium flat), for greater freedom of movement. The panels are available in three configurations to suit different horse back conformations: LPF flocked (non-integrated), Classic flocked (non-integrated), and non-integrated Latex. The front blocks come in two options: small and anatomical, or large for greater support. Leather selection also contributes to the customization of the saddle, with a variety of options designed to combine aesthetics, comfort, and long-term durability: Lux leather, a premium double-oiled leather, durable and with good grip; bovine leather, soft and grippy from the very first ride; and hard leather, robust and ideal for intensive, long-lasting use. A wide range of color combinations for the pipings and stitchings further enhance the aesthetic customization, allowing the saddle to reflect the style of horse and rider alike. The new Paris K is the natural evolution of the Paris K and X-Advanced models, bringing together their strengths in an updated mono flap design that offers new customization possibilities previously unavailable, broadening the overall offering. This saddle is specifically designed for the cross-country, making it a perfect choice for both professional riders and amateurs looking to improve their position and their horse's comfort, always with the well-being of the horse and the rider at the heart of its bespoke configuration.
