X-PERIENCE MD HUNTER
HUNTER

- ① NEW TREE WITH INJECTED MEMBRANES
- ② MD-MEDIUM DEEP SEAT
- ③ ON REQUEST: "COMFORT SKIRTS" FOR EVEN MORE CLOSE CONTACT
- ④ FIVE DIFFERENT PANEL VERSIONS
- ⑤ ADAPTIVE BLOCKS

The X-Perience MD saddle is a refined evolution of its predecessor, retaining the unique qualities and feel that set the original X-Perience apart. It features a broad rear seat base and innovative injected membranes within the unisex tree, meticulously engineered to support both male and female anatomies. This design, combined with a medium-deep seat that encourages a naturally balanced, central position, delivers exceptional comfort and stability. The saddle's block design, with its unstitched front, allows the sweatflaps to flex naturally while the panels adapt seamlessly to the horse's shoulders, ensuring unrestricted movement. Ideal for riders in the Hunter discipline, the X-Perience MD offers a tailored approach to equine performance. It is available in five different panel versions, three LPF options (integrated, non-integrated, and FSF applied) and two latex variants (integrated and non-integrated), each designed with a wide surface for optimal weight distribution. Additionally, optional "comfort skirts" lined with soft leather and durable Cordura are available to enhance the close contact between horse and rider, further elevating comfort and performance in competitive settings.

AS-X

The Rubino MD AS-X saddle introduces a breakthrough in design by integrating the revolutionary AS-X technology, a fusion of the Adaptive System and X-Technology. The patented Adaptive System is uniquely engineered to allow both axial and lateral bending, providing unmatched shock absorption and a tree that adapts seamlessly to the horse's movements. The front of the saddle is crafted to minimize thickness for enhanced rider close contact, while the injected membranes of the unisex tree deliver exceptional stability. Ideal for disciplines like Hunter where close contact and precise communication are essential, the Rubino MD AS-X saddle features a medium-deep seat that encourages a centralized rider position. The reduced under-thigh thickness further improves the connection between horse and rider, and the unstitched block design allows the sweatflaps to flex naturally with the horse's shoulders. With five distinct panel options, including LPF versions (integrated, non-integrated, and FSF applied) and latex options (integrated and non-integrated), this saddle is adaptable to all horse morphologies and rider preferences, ensuring both performance and comfort in competitive settings.

The Rubino MF AS-X saddle introduces a breakthrough in saddle design with its revolutionary AS-X technology—a seamless integration of the Adaptive System and X-Technology. The Adaptive System, the only shock-absorbing feature of its kind, enables the tree to bend both axially and laterally, ensuring the saddle follows the horse's movements with exceptional precision. Its innovative geometry and injected membranes work in tandem to provide maximum stability, while the front section is meticulously designed to minimize thickness for enhanced rider contact, and the rear, equipped with larger injected membranes, delivers superior support. Ideal for disciplines such as Hunter, where a harmonious connection between horse and rider is essential, the medium flat seat version of the Rubino MF AS-X saddle offers maximum freedom of movement. The reduced thickness under the thigh promotes optimal communication, and the unstitched block design allows the sweatflaps to flex naturally as the panels follow the horse's shoulder movements without restriction. With five versatile panel options—including LPF variants (integrated, non-integrated, and FSF applied) and latex versions (integrated and non-integrated)—this saddle adapts effortlessly to various horse morphologies and rider preferences, making it a top choice for competitive performance.

MICHEL ROBERT CPS HUNTER

HUNTER

- 1 CPS-TECHNOLOGY
- 2 NARROW TWIST
- 3 UNISEX TREE
- 4 STEADY POSITION IN THE SEAT

Renowned for its ability to position the rider in an optimal, balanced stance without constraint, the Michel Robert saddle has long been celebrated for its performance. The Michel Robert CPS elevates this legacy with an innovative tree that incorporates advanced CPS technology, thoughtfully designed to accommodate both male and female anatomies. The signature narrow twist remains intact, ensuring a very close contact between the rider and the horse that has become synonymous with the Michel Robert experience. The seat is wider towards the cantle, which extends the seat's surface to support shorter panels and ensures a more even distribution of the rider's weight across the horse's back. This enhanced weight distribution not only increases overall comfort but also provides a distinct advantage in disciplines like Hunter, where maintaining a secure, balanced connection is essential for performance.
